WEST DANVILLE,

Golden Wedding. A most delightful occasion was the meeting together on Monday of many relatives and friends from far and near to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Oramel B. Flint. The day was as fine as the one 50 years ago when Mr. Flint and Miss Roxa Brickett were married, and they received their friends at their home under a canopy of golden rod and ferns. There was a profusion of wild flowers and potted plants artistically arranged about the house by Mrs. Perry Flint and Mrs. A. A. Flint of Tyngsboro, wives of the sons of the host and hostess. After appropriate remarks and an informal wedding ceremony by Rev. F. E. Currier, the friends extended most hearty congratulations and expressed the hope that they might all be present at their 75th anniversary. The large dining room was soon filled, where an excellent lunch was served by Caterer S. D. Atwood of St. Johnsbury. During the lunch hour solos were finely rendered by Mrs. Perry Plint of Tyngsboro and Mrs. Charles F. Robinson of Amesbury Mass. A recitation "Grandma's Berry Pie" was very prettily rendered by the little grandson, Percy R. Flint of Tyngsboro, and all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne." The presents were numerous and costly, among which were several gold coins. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mr. and E. Brickett of Lowell, Mass., their brother and sister, also Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Perry A. Flint Arthur L. Flint, and Mrs. H. Bean of West Danville. Death of Mrs. Frye. Mrs. Mary C. Dow, wife of the late John C. Frye, died at the home of her son, Miss Eunice Washburn has been visit-Fred Prye, last Wednesday. Mrs. Frye was born in Canada, June 26, 1837, and was next to the oldest of a tamily of ten child ren. She was married by Rev. Mr. Eastman in 1860 to John C. Frye of Danville. Two sons were born to them, Fred, with whom she has lived the greater part of the time since the death of her husband, who died in 1892, and George, who died the same year her husband was taken from her. Mrs. Frye has been ill for about three years, and previous to that suffered considerably from an accident on the railroad in 1892 at Laconia. In earlier years, when health permitted she was a regular attendant of the Congregational church, and was always a most devoted mother and kind neighbor. She will be greatly missed, not only in the home but by her many friends. She is survived by her son and his wife and granddaughter, Luella Mary Frye, and by three sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Fred D. Chandler of Laconia, P. B. Dow of Northwood, N. H., .C.Dow of California, R.G.Dow of Weirs, N. H., Mrs. S. D. Walker of Concord, N. H., who was present at the funeral, Mrs. . H. Griffin of Gloucester, Mass., and C B. Dow of Marlboro, Mass. The funeral was held at the house Friday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. G. H. Cummings officiating. The bearers were Jennings

Sturdevant, A. C. McLean, George Hodgdon, and Winfield Fisher. Wilson-Newell. The marriage of Miss Maud Iona Newell and Foster David Wilson of St. Johnsbury was celebrated last Wednesday evening at half past eight o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newell. About 100 guests had gathered for the occasion and at the setts is visiting her sister, Mrs. Joseph appointed time, to the strains of the wedding march played by a sister of the groom, Mrs. Bessie Noyes of St. Johnsbury, the bridal party appeared. Miss Lettie Morse of Danville was brides-maid and William Beauregard of St. lohnsbury was best man. They were followed by the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Cummings, the bride's pastor, the ring service being used. The bridal couple stood beneath an arch of fir branches, maiden hair tern and sweet peas. The bride's gown was lavender silk and she carried bride roses. After congratulations were extended refreshments of cake, and punch were served by Several from here attended the Lyn Miss Sadie Newell, sister of the bride, and each guest received a piece of wedding cake, which was dispensed by Gladys Newell and Gladys McDonald. There were many beautiful wedding gifts too numerous to mention. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will live at St. Johnsbury and have the best wishes of many friends for a happy and prosperous life. Massey-Stevens. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Orum H. Stevens was the scene of a pretty wed-ding and reception last Wednesday evening, when their daughter, Emma Abby, and George Albert Massey of St. Johnsbury were united in marriage. The ceremony, in which the double ring service was used, was performed by Rev. George H. Cummings in the presence of the relatives and a few friends. The color scheme of the parlor was pink and white. Miss Hall renderered soft music during the ceremony. The bride's gown was of white mohair with lace and silk trimmings, and she carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The decorations of the other rooms of the house were in vellow and green, Nasturtiums were used in the sitting room and the hall was festooned and the stair rail was wound with evergreen and golden rod. Here punch was served luring the evening by Miss Emma Massey, sister of the groom, assisted by a cousin, Miss Helen M. Massey. Imme diately following the ceremony, the guests who had been invited to the reception began to arrive and to extend their congratulations to the happy pair. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the dining room by Misses Katherine and Florence Andersen of St. ohnsbury, Miss Bishop of McIndoes and Mrs. Marshall Bixby and Miss Carol Sturdevant of Danville. The room was very effectively decorated. Ropes of evergreen and golden rod were draped about the walls, and from the center of the ceiling strands of white were fes tooned to the corners of the table, which was covered with yellow flowers. An enjoyable feature of the evening was the cutting of the bride's cake by the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Massey left a little after eleven amid a shower of rice. The bride was the recipient of many valuable and pretty gifts expressive of the love and esteem of her friends. Miss Stevens has always lived in town and since her graduation at St. Johnsbury Academy has been a valued teacher in the town schools. Chinese Mohammedans.

A traveler in the upper Tangtse provinces of China found in the town of Hinganfu many Chinese Mohammedans who keep up communication with their fellow religionists of Arabia. A missionary who has lived among them for years declares that they are very quarrelsome, much given to boasting their Turkestan origin, and, in spite of the prophet's injunctions, drink a great deal of wine. This is usually the case with Chinese Mohammedans. In Hinganfu, and more especially in Kansuh, a few of their spiritual teachers keep up their knowledge of Arabic and are occasionally visited by Arab or central Asian mollahs, who follow the old Arab trade route by way of Hami, by which the Arabs originally traded and propagated their faith. These mollahs visit every country in the east where the followers of the prophet are | Fine Country Seat and Dairy Farm to be found and keep up the ties of the faithful with Islam. How Swallows Drink. Of course we know that swallows drink as they skim over the surface of water. We have seen how here and there the water ripples on a pond when swallows are gracefully skimming to and fro. One day I sat down beside a small pond where every evening many barn swallows came to bathe and drink on the surface of the glassy water. With sketch book and pencil in hand I closely watched the birds, and you may imagine my delight to see just how they managed to touch and dip up the water as they came within a few steps of me. You see, the swallow takes up water in its lower bill just as you would dip up a little water in a spoon or in the hollow of your hand while you glided over the surface in a boat. Only the under half of the open bill touches the water. If the upper half were also to touch, the water would be forced out on either side instead of being scooped up into the bill. -St. Nicholas.

A Lake That Stores Heat.

There is a lake that stores the sun's heat at Medeve, in northeastern Transylvania. Thick beds of rock salt underlie the district, and a similar formation appears upon the surface in mounds, some of them over 100 feet in height. Among these the lake rests at fully 1,500 feet above sea level. Upon the surface its water is almost sweet, four inches below there is a twentieth of salt, at two feet there is one-fifth, and at five feet the water is practically saturated with salt. In September, after a summer's sunshine, the thermometer showed the lake's waters to be 150 degrees four feet down. Even by April, after a whole season of wintry weather, it had only been reduced to 80 degrees. Experiments have proved that this is due to absorption and retention of the sun's heat by the salt saturated solution.
